The plans for the new building are now being drawn up in the office of the building inspector, and as soon as these are completed bids will be advertised for, the contract awarded and the work commenced and pushed as rapidly as

At the station house when searched the razor was found in his possession, and an additional charge of carry-ing concealed weapons placed against his name. Bishop Satterlee's Church.

Bishop Satterlee is soon expected to reurn. As has been stated in this column he bishop will take up the charge of St Alban's Church, on Wisconsin avenue, which at present is without a regular spirtual head. The congregation of the church is now preparing to receive the bishop as the spiritual head of the church, and before his return this city a number of improvements will be made in the interior and exterior ap-pearance of the edifice. exciting runaway, in which the lives of severa were jeopardized. About 6 p.m., as Mrs. H. L. Wells was driving a spirited young horse along a street near the railroad station, the animal became frightened and dashed up the street a fearful rate. After running several hundred yards the horse and vehicle came in contact with a tree, breaking the wagon to pleces and throwing Mrs. Wells a censiderable distance against a fence People ran from every direction to her assistant Prople ran from every direction to her assistance, many supposing that she had been fatally injured. She was carried into an adjacent dwelling, and Dr. E. E. Stonestreet, In response to a call, was soon in attendance. Upon examination, he found that no bones had been broken, but that she was badly bruised about the body and extremities, and was suffering much from the nervous shock. Her husband, Mr. H. L. Wells of the government printing office, arrived on a train a short time after the accident, and after procuring a horse and carriage, removed her to their home, a short distance from the west end of town. As soon as the frightened animal got loose from the broken vehicle he ran along the pavement for several squares, until he was finally captured. As is generally the case at that time in the evening, the streets were full of children and several of them made narrow escapes from injury. It is said that the cause of the horse running away was that a negro boy riding another animal came up at a very fast gait behind the carriage, and that this was his second offense of the kind within a very short time.

BRECKINRIDGE'S VIGOROUS SPEECH

Gov. Buckner Boomed for Vice President.

CURRENT POLITICAL NOTES Rockville was yesterday evening the scene of at > Kentucky democrats who are not in sympathy with the Chicago platform raised their standard yesterday, and the Bourbon state will lead the procession to Indianapolls. The convention which met at Music Hall, Louisville, yesterday, contained three hundred delegates, who filled the central portion of the hall set apart for them, while on the stage were many of the men who have fought democracy's battles in the state for a quarter of a century. Two sessions were held.

> In the afternoon temporary organization was effected, the selections of the various districts for committeemen, electors and delegates were reported, and an address was delivered by Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge that aroused enthusiasm. The colonel's reappearance into public life was the occasion for one of his best efforts. He pitched into the Chicago platform, and de-clared it was the duty of Kentucky demo-crats to compass the defeat of Bryan and Scwall, whose election, he declared, would be the greatest calamity that could befall the people of this country.

Chairman George M. Davie made a brief speech in calling the convention to order, and Lieutenant Governor J. R. Hindman ed a good deal of amusement by a speech which did not dig deeply into political issues. After the speech of Col. Breckin-ridge, which was in response to repeated and persistent calls, the districts were called for committeemen, and the convention took a short recess until 5:15. At the noomeetings the district delegations selected District delegates to the Indianapolis

About the same sized crowd as in the afternoon faced Temporary Chairman Hind-man at 8 o'clock. Permanent organization was effected with Judge J. Q. Ward as chairman. The following delegates-at-large to the Indianapolis convention were chosen; Ex-Gov. S. B. Buckner, A. J. Carroll, W. C. P. Breckinridge and William F. Brow der. The platform, which was unanimously adop'ed, aroused frequent outbursts of enthusiasm. It was a severe arraignment of the Chicago platform, which was de-clared to be "revolutionary and destructive of democratic principles." The candidates were denounced, Mr. Bryan as a populist, and Mr. Sewall as a subsidized shipbuilder and a "high protectionist."
It contained a presentation of the principles to enunciate which the gathering vas called, namely, the maintenance of "an honest and stable currency" on a gold standard; a tariff for revenue only; low taxation and economical expensiture, civil service reform, the duty of the government e protect the citizen and his property from lawlessness, an independent and unintimidated judiciary, the condemnation of "special privileges, sumptuary legislation, governmental favoritism, bounties and other forms of paternalism and populism," and a hearty indorsement of the national demo-ratic administration.

Every mention of Cleveland or Carlisle during the afternoon or evening was greeted with an outburst of applause. On motion of Col. Breckinridge, an amendment to the platform was adopted, urging the nomination of co. Con Breckinridge. ination of ex-Gov. Buckner for Vice Presi- Colorado Prohibitionists for Bryan.

After speeches by ex-Gov. Buckner and others the convention adjourned.

Just before adjournment, a telegram from Senator Lindsay was read, in which he expressed regret that illness prevented his at-tendance at the convention, adding: "I feel sure that your convention will declare for unadulterated democracy with no concessions to republicanism on the one hand, nor

Chairman Briedenthal's Opinion.

Asked to state his opinion as to the effect of Senator Butler's ultimatum relative to fusion negotiations, Chairman Briedenthal of the populist state committee of Kansas said vesterday:

"I do not care to say anything on the subject until I have official notice from Mr. Butler. We are confronted with an unusual condition politically, which requires all men opposed to the single gold standard to be patriots instead of partisans. ## The Mystle Brotherhood.

The lodges of the Order of the Mystic Brotherhood, which, it is said, hold the balance of power in Kansas politics, will, within the next two weeks, elect delegates to the state convention, which will be held in Wichita in September, and the poli-ticians who belong to the organization are very active. As it will be the first state meeting of the organization, nobody can outline its work or state whether the tion of indorsing one or the other of the state tickets will come up.

At the afternoon session of the national party at Decatur, III., yesterday, members of the state central and national committees were named, and the following state ticket nominated; United States Senator, Daniel R. The democrats insisted on leaving the matter of senatorship open, but at the morning's session they instructed their committee to agree to support a populist candidate for Senator. This, however, did not settle the mat ter.
